SNAP (Food Assistance)

Please read this form about the rights and responsibilities of the programs you have chosen. When we refer to “you”, we mean all persons applying for and receiving benefits in your household.

SECTION 1 THIS SECTION APPLIES TO SNAP AND CASH ASSISTANCE.

Additional requirements for the specific programs are in the following sections.

1. You have the right to apply for benefits at any time during normal office hours. The date you turn in your application determines the date your benefits begin if you are eligible. Don't delay in filing your application.
2. You may appoint someone to apply for benefits on your behalf.
3. A decision must be made on your application within the following time frames: thirty (30) days for SNAP if you are not entitled to expedited service; and sixty (60) days for Cash Assistance.
4. Privacy Statement:
 - We are authorized to collect your information (on the application and other supporting documentation) under state and federal laws and regulations, including but not limited to IC 4-22-2, 45 CFR 206.10, and 7 CFR Part 271.
 - All personal information you provide is kept confidential and will only be used to determine your eligibility for benefits, and to communicate with you or your authorized representative. Your personal information is protected by both state and federal law. The Division of Family Resources takes the privacy of your information seriously and employs numerous privacy and security controls to safeguard your information.
 - If you believe that we have violated the privacy of your information, please contact the Division of Family Services, either by visiting your local office or calling 1-800-403-0864. You may also contact the Family & Social Services Administration Privacy Officer by phone (1-877-690-0010) or email (FSSA.PrivacyOffice@fssa.IN.gov).
 - The information you provide will be entered into our eligibility computer system. You have the right to review that information and to request corrections or amendments to that information, and may do so by visiting your local Division of Family Resources office or calling 1-800-403-0864 (please note that requested corrections or amendments are subject to verification by our staff as required by state and federal regulations).
5. You will need to answer all questions that are required to determine eligibility for the programs you have chosen.
6. Eligibility for benefits is determined without any regard to race, color, creed, sex, age, handicap, national origin, or political belief. Information is requested about your racial-ethnic heritage to comply with the Federal Civil Rights Law and the Food and Nutrition Act. However, you do not have to provide this information as it is strictly voluntary. If you choose not to give us this information, we will indicate a race/ethnicity classification for you for data collection purposes. This will not affect your eligibility or level of benefits. The reason for collecting this information is to assure that program benefits are distributed without regard to race, color or national origin.
7. A Social Security number (SSN) must be given for each applicant who can legally have a number. If you don't have an SSN you must apply for one. Your SSN will be used to check the records of other State and Federal agencies such as the Social Security Administration, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Internal Revenue Service, Department of Workforce Development, and other states' public assistance records. Information available through the Income Eligibility Verification System (IEVS) will be requested, used, and may be verified through collateral contacts when discrepancies are found by the State, and that such information may affect the household's eligibility and level of benefits. We may ask for the Social Security numbers of family members who are not applying; however, you do not have to provide these numbers as a condition of eligibility. Determination of eligibility will not be delayed, denied, or discontinued due to waiting on a Social Security number to be issued. If discrepancies are found, this may affect the household's eligibility and level of benefits.
8. If you are an immigrant, you must provide the document showing your immigration status. A person who does not provide immigration documents or has no documentation cannot receive SNAP or Cash Assistance. The immigration status of lawful immigrants who are applying for or receiving benefits is subject to verification through the Systematic Alien Verification System (SAVE) administered by the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS). Information received from USCIS may affect the household's eligibility and level of benefits.
9. Undocumented immigrants who are not applying for assistance will not be reported to the United States Citizenship and Immigration Service.
10. In order to remain eligible for SNAP and Cash Assistance, you may be referred to the employment and training program. You will be required to participate in the employment and training program and do specific activities, unless you meet certain exemption criteria. TANF work ready applicants are required to complete Applicant Job Search (AJS) as a condition of the eligibility process. Failure to complete AJS without good cause may be grounds for denying the TANF application.
11. If you voluntarily quit a job, or voluntarily reduce employment hours without good reason or if you are terminated from a job for disciplinary reasons, it may affect your eligibility and the amount of benefits you receive.
12. You will need to verify certain information you provide, based on the requirements of the programs you have chosen. If you have tried to get the verification(s), but are unable to do so, you can sign a release of information and the caseworker will get the information. Any release of information form that you sign must have the name of the person, agency, or organization that the caseworker will be contacting. This release is to be signed only if confidential information needs to be shared in order to obtain the verification, such as from a medical facility or financial institution.

Individuals who fail to cooperate with these rules without a good reason can be disqualified from receiving SNAP benefits until they cooperate or for at least two (2) months for the first violation, six (6) months for the second violation, and thirty-six (36) months for the third violation. SECTION 3

THIS SECTION APPLIES ONLY TO CASH ASSISTANCE.

1. Support rights (accrued, pending, and continuing) must be assigned to the State as a condition of eligibility for TANF. The assignment is subject to 42 U.S.C. Section 608 (a)(3) as amended. The assignment of support rights constitutes a financial obligation that is owed to the State by the payor(s). You must agree to cooperate with support enforcement, which could include: identifying and locating the non-custodial parent(s), establishing paternity, and obtaining a court order to ensure payment of support through the courts. Failure to cooperate could result in termination of assistance. Any support payments received after the assignment has been executed should be forwarded to the designated child support agency.

Exception: You may claim good cause for refusing to cooperate in the State's effort to collect Child Support if you believe that cooperation would not be in the best interest of the child. The following are circumstances under which it may be determined that you have good cause:

- cooperation is anticipated to result in serious physical or emotional harm to the child;
- cooperation is anticipated to result in physical or emotional harm to you which is so serious it reduces your ability to care for the child adequately;
- the child was born as a result of rape or incest;
- court proceedings are on-going for adoption of the child; or
- you are working with an agency helping you decide whether to place the child for adoption.

If you want to claim good cause, you must:

- Provide the evidence needed to determine whether you have good cause for refusing to cooperate. If your reason for claiming good cause is your fear of physical harm and it is impossible to obtain evidence, the Family and Social Services Administration may still be able to make a good cause determination after an investigation of your claim.
- Give the necessary evidence to the agency within twenty (20) days after claiming good cause. You will be given more time only if it is determined that more time is required because of the difficulty in obtaining the evidence.

The Family and Social Services Administration may:

- Decide your claim based on the evidence which you give to the agency; or
- Decide to conduct an investigation to further verify your claim. If it is decided that further information is needed, you may be required to provide that information before a decision is made. The agency will not contact the absent parent without first telling you.

If you are found to have good cause for not cooperating, the Department of Child Services may attempt to establish paternity or collect support only if a determination has been made that this can be done without risk to you or your child. This will not be done without first telling you.

The following are examples of acceptable kinds of evidence that can be used in determining if good cause exists. If you need help in getting a copy of any of the documents, reasonable assistance will be provided to help you obtain the necessary documents to support your claim.

- Birth certificates, or medical or law enforcement records which indicate that the child was conceived as a result of incest or forcible rape;
- court documents or other records which indicate that legal proceedings for adoption are pending in court;
- court, medical, criminal, child protective services, social services, psychological or law enforcement records which indicate that the absent parent might inflict physical or emotional harm on you or the child;
- medical records which indicate emotional health history and present health status of you or the child for whom support would be sought or written statements from a mental health professional indicating a diagnosis concerning the emotional health of you or the child;
- a written statement from a public or private agency confirming that you are being assisted in resolving the issue of whether to keep or give up the child for adoption; and
- signed statements from individuals, including friends, neighbors, clergymen, social workers, and medical professionals who might have knowledge of the circumstances providing the basis of your good cause claim.

Upon termination of TANF eligibility, the assignment ends with respect to current support. Assignment will not terminate with respect to monies owed to the state and federal governments due to the provision of public assistance. After termination of assistance, in accordance with state and federal laws, if the obligor owes current support and/or arrearages to both the former TANF recipient/payee and to the State, current support and arrearage will be paid first to the former recipient/payee then to the State, with the exception of federal tax offsets which will be applied first to amounts which the state and federal government are entitled. Support enforcement activities will continue for you although your TANF has ended unless you notify the Child Support Bureau in writing that these services should be discontinued. If you close your Child Support enforcement case, you are no longer entitled to services until you apply and pay the required application fee.

2. When you apply for TANF, you must follow these rules:

- ⇒ DO NOT make false or misleading statements.
- ⇒ DO NOT take any action to conceal or withhold facts, misrepresent your situation, or submit false documents.

If you break the above rules, you can be disqualified from the TANF Program six (6) months for the first violation, twelve (12) months for the second violation and permanently for the third violation.

3. Any individual convicted in a court of a misdemeanor for breaking the rules below can be disqualified from the TANF program for a period of twelve (12) months for the first and second violations and permanently for the third violation.  - You will ensure that your school age children regularly attend school.
 - You will ensure that your children are raised in a safe and secure home.
 - You will not use illegal drugs or other substances that would interfere with your ability to become self-sufficient.

 - You will not receive additional cash benefits for children who are born more than ten (10) months after the date that you are authorized to receive TANF benefits.
 - If you are a minor parent, you will reside with the adult who is related to you as a parent, stepparent, or grandparent or an adult who is your legal guardian
6. The receipt of TANF cash benefits shall be limited to a total of twenty-four (24) months for adults and sixty (60) months for their families.
7. As a condition of eligibility, adult applicants deemed mandatory for the IMPACT program will be referred to IMPACT to complete a job search program. Failure to complete the job search program without good cause is grounds for denying the TANF application.
8. Under Indiana law (IC12-13-14-4.5), it is a Class C misdemeanor for TANF recipients to use their Hoosier Works electronic benefits (EBT) card to access TANF benefits at liquor stores, gambling establishments, horse racing facilities, gun stores and adult entertainment establishments. A person convicted of a Class C misdemeanor can be jailed for up to sixty (60) days and can be fined up to five hundred dollars ($500).
